

County Road Media — Privacy Policy

Effective Date: August 10, 2026 Last Updated: August 10, 2026

County Road Media (“County Road Media,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) respects your privacy. This Privacy Policy explains what information we collect through countyroadmedia.com (the “Site”) and how we use it. By using the Site, you agree to the terms below.

1. Information We Collect

We do not use cookies, analytics tools, tracking pixels, or any other technology to monitor, log, or track your activity on the Site. We do not collect IP addresses, device identifiers, or browsing behavior.

The only information we collect is what you voluntarily submit through our contact form, which may include:

- Your name
- Your email address
- The subject of your inquiry
- The content of your message

We do not collect this information automatically, and we do not require you to provide it to browse the Site.

2. How We Use Your Information

Information submitted through the contact form is used solely to:

- Respond to your inquiry; and
- Connect you with the appropriate County Road Media representative regarding talent, production, or other business inquiries.

We do not add your name to any email list, mailing list, or marketing database. Your submission is used only for the specific purpose of responding to your individual inquiry.

3. How We Share Your Information

We do not sell, rent, or share your information with third parties for advertising or marketing purposes. Your information may be shared internally within County Road Media (e.g., with the representative best suited to handle your inquiry) but is not disclosed to outside parties except:

- Where required by law, subpoena, or legal process; or
- To protect the rights, property, or safety of County Road Media or others.

4. No Tracking or Cookies

This Site does not use cookies, web beacons, or similar tracking technologies. We do not track your activity across this Site or other websites, and we do not participate in third-party advertising networks.

5. Data Retention

We retain contact form submissions only as long as necessary to respond to and resolve your inquiry, after which they may be deleted at our discretion.

6. Your Choices

Since we only collect information you choose to submit, you may simply choose not to submit the contact form if you prefer not to share your information. If you would like us to delete information you've previously submitted, contact us using the details below.

7. California Privacy Rights

If you are a California resident, California law may give you certain rights regarding your personal information. We describe these below as a matter of good practice, regardless of whether our business meets the applicable statutory thresholds.

What we collect: As described in Section 1, the only personal information we collect is what you voluntarily submit through our contact form — your name, email address, and the content of your message.

What we don't do: We do not sell or share your personal information, and we do not use it for cross-context behavioral advertising.

Your rights: You may have the right to:

- Know what personal information we have collected about you;
- Delete personal information we have collected about you; and
- Correct inaccurate personal information we hold about you.

How to exercise these rights: To make a request, contact us using the information in Section 10 below. Because we collect only limited contact-form information, we are typically able to respond to and resolve requests promptly and do not require identity verification beyond confirming the email address associated with your submission. We will not discriminate against you for exercising any of these rights.

8. Children's Privacy

The Site is not directed to children under 13, and we do not knowingly collect information from children under 13.

9. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. Any changes will be reflected by an updated "Last Updated" date above.
